Anything named after the famous beach will have the waveform at its heart. Like the Opera House in Australian designer Fräg Woodall's hometown of Sydney.

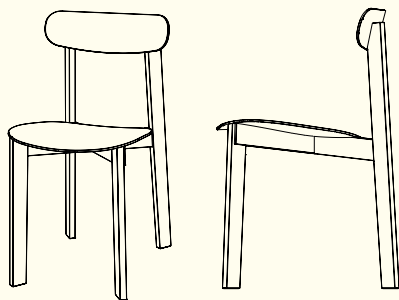

The BONDI chair is inspired by his earliest memories of watching artisans at work, fascinated by the way they joined and fitted timber. The seat is neat, precise and no-frills, with a crisp, beach-friendly curve. A touch eccentric yet witty, fresh and confident, this is a hard-working, cheerful and characterful chair that would sit just as comfortably in a busy restaurant or café as in a kitchen or dining space at home.

There's a subtle sense of fun in Fräg Woodall's chair – curved and rounded where it needs to be, but with a durability and integrity that's key to the craftsman's work. Enjoy the joinery.
